Bio

Born and raised in North London; Tottenham, Servanity started college aged 16. A helping hand in the music industry was there for her, but as leaves in the wind, they disappeared which resulted in Servanity stopping music. For a change of scenery, Servanity travelled to Asia in 2015 which inspired her to write again. When she returned to the UK she said to her brother "I either start now or leave it alone forever", that same day Servanity's brother contacted his videography friends and they went to a random shopping centre rooftop and recorded the music video that changed her life. She began making freestyles and working with an artist called dev manager where she did a freestyle every week for 3 months, after which Servanity then began creating her own music.
